A Great Champion almost pulls it off at Las Vegas!

Just writing the news this week is exciting!

As many others were watching the races in Las Vegas via the internet, so was I. I was excited that customers like Ross Wilson (Race winner) and Brandon Huhtala were having a great outing, too.

I also was nervously waiting for every bit of news that came through on Sal's weekend.

John Edwards graciously offered his record holding race car to Sal for the weekend, giving a real (but long) shot at the Division 1 championship - it would have been a miracle weekend for Sal... As every event came through, I became more nervous... round by round... then just before the final, Billy Mayo called (sincere thanks Billy!) to tell me Sal was going into the final... WOW!!! In the final, he missed winning the race and the Championship by only .001 second... That just showed me how much a champion Sal really is! He was put out of two races this year from transmission trouble, and two races with valve train problems... and brought the whole season back to a .001 second margin... is just the best!

Sal called me to say, "John Edwards' car drove perfectly - it was just like being at home: it had dambest carbs, too!"

Thanks everyone for making us apart of your projects,
John
